

SUNY DELHI ENROLLMENT ON THE RISE FOR SIXTH SEMESTER

DELHI, NY ... SUNY Delhi's enrollment has increased for the sixth consecutive semester, thanks to the college's focus on new degree options and outreach initiatives. A total of 2,052 students are enrolled at Delhi for the spring semester, compared to 2,010 in Spring 2002.

"We're pleased to announce that SUNY Delhi has exceeded its enrollment targets once again," said Larry Barrett, dean of enrollment services. "Our success stems from offering unique degree programs and flexible options for those who are currently in the workforce and would like to work toward a degree."

At SUNY Delhi, students can choose from over 40 academic programs, including 10 four-year degrees. Proposals for additional four-year degrees in veterinary science technology, architecture technology, and recreation and sports facility area management have been submitted for approval to the State University of New York. These programs build on Delhi's unique academic strengths and will provide even greater opportunities for students.

SUNY Delhi has teamed up with Schenectady County Community College to offer its four-year degree in Hospitality Management to Capital District residents who want to pursue a bachelor's degree in Hospitality Management, but are unable to travel to Delhi because of work obligations or family life.

SUNY Delhi also reaches out to the Oneonta community each semester through associate degree level courses at the Telecenter. College credit courses are offered in the spring and fall to adult learners and working adults who reside in the Oneonta area looking to further their education.
